Foreword

WE HOPE that you have as much pleasure following the adventures of "Georgie Hi" for 1960 as we did in planning how to present this record of events. Read it all, including our advertising, which we think is clever.

Our superintendent, Mr. Barnes, and our principal, Mr. Williams.

Weighty school problems deserve serious consideration and sometimes cause nervous tension, so Superintendent Barnes and Principal Williams gnaw their respective pacifiers while they achieve a measure of calm before making an important decision.

Chuck: "Hurry with mine, Mrs. McCoy! After all, my mother did make your birthday cake, and Les has already finished two pieces!"

Geography class covers many topics, all interesting when taught by Mr. Cavitt.

You can tell that this picture was posed. Every seventh grader (but one) in Mrs. Armstrong's reading class obediently looks at his book.

COOPERATION BETWEEN PARENTS and school resulted in a banquet honoring junior high football team members, given December 3, '59.

Some dated!

Some didn't!

8th grade cheerleaders divided into groups and took turns at the junior high games.
Every girl who wished could participate.

8th Grade Float

7th Grade Float

ARMISTICE DAY - a school holiday - was celebrated by an "ON TO VICTORY" parade sponsored by our lively high school cheerleaders.

Junior High Bands

7th Grade Bands

Parent Band Boosters sponsored a lively Christmas party.

To say the least, Chuck, Janis, and Bob, found the refreshments edible.

Climaxing the evening was the breaking of the pinata, arranged below by Mrs. Carlson. Ask Alan Lyman if it is wise to stay away from the pinata stick.

Some 8th Grade Band Members

Junior High Chorus and Slave Owners

Looking to the right

Anyway you look, the Junior High Chorus is a good looking group. We heard them at the Christmas program and in assembly.

Below, left: Going, going, gone! Joe Williams has just become slave for a day to sister Janis and associates. Fiendish glee is expressed.

And poor Paul Hindelang, suffering the indignity of a taped mouth. He had to swallow his pride and his words.

Below, right: Seniors Todd and Aleman smile while toting for 8th graders, who seem a mite more merciful than the 7th graders who are ordering Paul about.
Student Council sponsored Slave Day evokes the best response from junior high students.

Junior High Honors and Classroom Scenes

Happy and proud are these junior high medal winners; and they have a right to be, for they have the highest average in the whole junior high in their respective subjects.

Bill Elliott, science; John Clifford, history; Linda Ekdahl, English; Vivian Ickes, mathematics and Spanish.

Each one of these students is a diligent worker, and deserves the recognition accorded him.

From among many interesting activities in Mrs. Jones seventh grade physiology class, we show the winners in the health poster contest.

Alan Lyman, 1st place
Clifford Langford, 2nd.

From the junior high, these four were nominated for the Citizenship Awards. Tommy Doerfler, 8th; Ronald Lehman and Judith Hodges, 7th; Susan Gamble, 8th. The seventh grade nominees were awarded the medals furnished by the American Legion, but all of these candidates may feel honored.
Judith modestly meditates.

In this lively scene from Mrs. Hicks' history class, Bob Giddings has a word (?) to say about the excellent bulletin board.

Student Council Projects

"Oh, please, just a little more money!" This is the cry heard 'round the auditorium as each class struggles to buy the most slaves at the annual slave sale, sponsored by the Student Council as a fund raising project.

Wonder what I could borrow on this?

If everyone responded to the Student Council Cleanup Campaigns as well as Mr. Williams, we'd be the cleanest school in the state.

Quick! Let me have a nickel!

Linda: "I could dance on and on forever!"
Mike: "Yeah, but I wish you would stay off my toes."

Each day at noon students gather in the cafeteria to dance fast and slow to records old and new. Sponsored by the Student Council, this activity is enjoyed by all who watch, and even more by those who participate.

Excellent idea for improving parent-school relationship, "Back to School" night, when parents could follow the schedule and meet the teachers.

"Yes, right on the other side of the boys' room."

Stanford Armstrong, Ann Wheeler, Richard Finch, Carlela Keys.

Two groups of delegates who went on Student Council trips for the purpose of discussing plans and problems with other schools.

Jimmy Petrosky, Karen Cole, Mr. Murdock, Janie Edwards, Mike Weir.

Poor Turkey! Still another idea for making money - a turkey chase. This project brought in more fun than funds.

Council sponsored Courtesy Week. Just imagine, the boys stood back to let the girls in first.

STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTIONS bring out more candidates than ever, and the cleverest of signs!

Early birds in the empty hall find a choice perch for Barbara's sign, which brother Paul kindly helps hang. Carlela and Jimmy give assistance and advice.

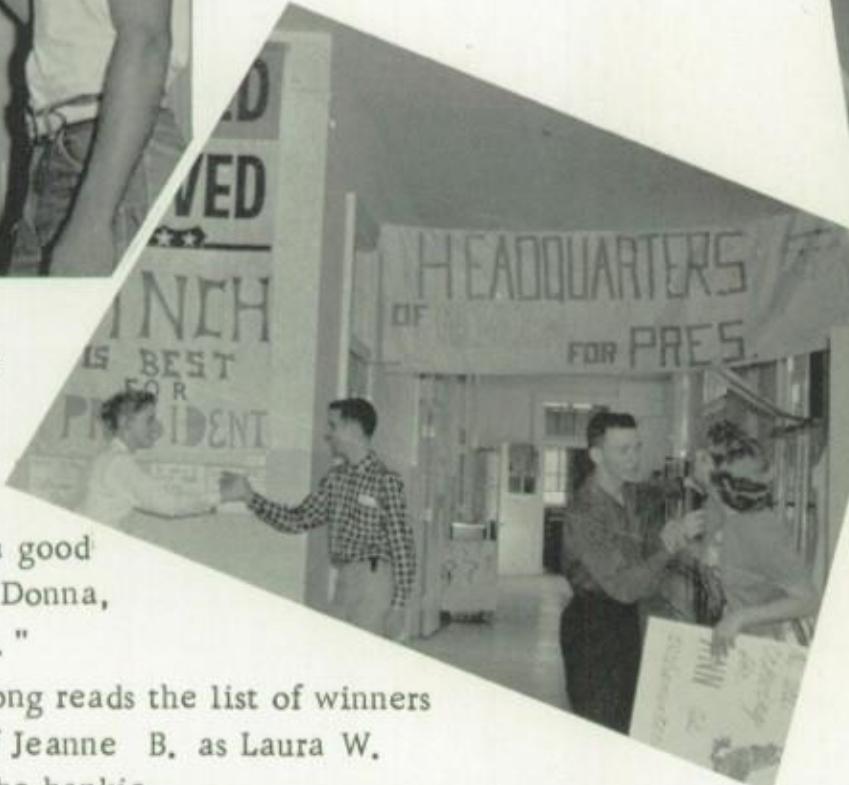

James: "Say, John, does that R in Mike Weir's name stand for Rex?"

John: "Don't know, but it doesn't stand for Reir."

While Carlela gives Richard a good luck sign, Randy admonishes Donna, "Look at my sign, it's longer."

Council President Armstrong reads the list of winners and ignores the sniffles of Jeanne B. as Laura W. laughs before borrowing the hankie.

Winners are congratulated and losers are consoled. It seems that no one is taking it too hard, however.

Judging from this bewildered huddle of cheerleaders, some of them still can't believe they've been elected.

Georgetown Eagles Take Second Place in District in the 1959 Season

Coach Birklebach sketches a play for interested boys
Joe Williams and Don Todd.

High hopes for first place were by the consoling thoughts of "Maybe next year."

Managers Maurice Sutton and Ernest Morris trotted many a mile in serving as managers of the team.

The Eagle Team

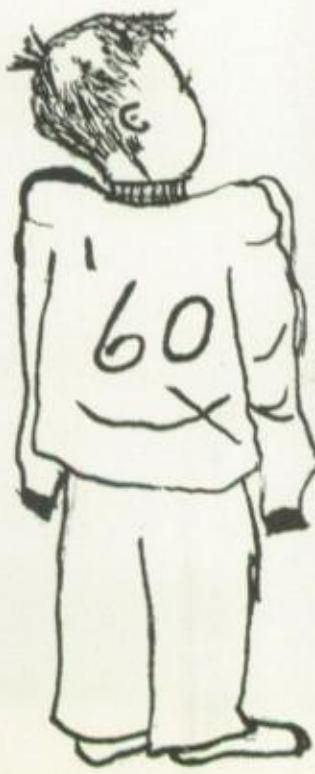

MIKE JONES, QUARTERBACK, crashes the tough Belton line for a touchdown. A hard battle, resulting in a 21 to 8 defeat for the Eagles, tells of heroic efforts not quite rewarded in this outstanding game of the '59 season.

Crouching in tense eagerness along the sideline, members of the "A" team join coach "Birk" in analyzing the second string action against Round Rock. Final score - a 32 to 0 victory for the Eagles.

Randell Mickan catching the first touchdown pass of the game against Elgin which resulted in a 37 to 6 win over the Wildcats.

Main character of this group is Figgy, the newt, who is supposedly being pushed into camera range by the gentle finger of Roger Middleton. Beverly Harris and Kathy Jones are trying to find out all about newts because they want to please their general science teacher Mrs. Barnes.

Assemblies and Activities

Assembly Chairman, Richard Finch, third Vice President of the Student Council, led us each assembly day in the pledge to the flag, and in prayer. Richard ably filled this demanding position by bringing our school many fine programs.

Don Todd was drafted during this assembly to help the science lecturer demonstrate the laws of motion.

It's a bird; it's a plane; it's Superman! No . . . it's the exuberant cheerleaders urging the Eagles to victory over the Yellowjackets.

The latest Paris fashions? No! These masculine football players are wearing "free-for-all" creations reserved for Football Fridays. They designate high spirits and enthusiasm.

The cheerleaders are poised before starting "Victory," one of the student body's favorite yells.

After the yell the cheerleaders appear not so poised.

"Pop Corn! Peanuts!" Not really - just one of the "crazy" skits exhibited in the jovial pep rallies this year.

The luscious Lockhart cheerleaders surprised everyone by paying us a visit on the day of the Georgetown-Lockhart game. Mavis Morris is just being introduced to the student body.

These two characters, Little Blue Hooding Hide and Beatnik Pete, contributed greatly to the chuckles of this year's rallies.

A victory parade to boost the Eagles on to victory over Taylor was a big success in turn out, participation, and co-operation, but lacking in result.

Could it be that Pep Squad President Carolyn Chambers and our dear P. E. teacher are horsing around?

they made to pep us up.

THE WACO CONFERENCE WAS attended by this happy group gathered here for last minute instructions from Mrs. Springer.

Randy Mercer, who entered dramatic interpretation, helps extemporaneous speakers Karen Cole and Jimmy McDonald find news items to be used in their speeches.

If one humorous disclaimer is funny, three are three times as funny. Donna Bishop, Tommy Peaslee, and Meredith McClain strike a characteristic pose from their declamations.

Jimmy McDonald and Sandra Pennington fight over the microphone to see who will record his original oration first. Karen Cole and David Carlson also entered and watch to see who will be the victor.

Mrs. Armstrong, who worked with the poetry readers, helps Judy Wolf, David Carlson, and Meredith McClain pick out their poems. Judy was the only student to place in the finals. Gary Montgomery, not pictured, was unable to attend.

ASSEMBLIES The Yearbook Beatnik theme showed homemakers Sammie Morris and Pete Bouffard mixing a cake; cheerleaders in a sack dance, and Beatniks Pete Aleman and Walter Martin instructing Christopher Columbus, portrayed by Lamar Cain.

Faculty assembly revealed some astonishing talents. "The Youngsters" really hammed it up.

Impromptu dance put on by two old ladies from the rocking chair row.

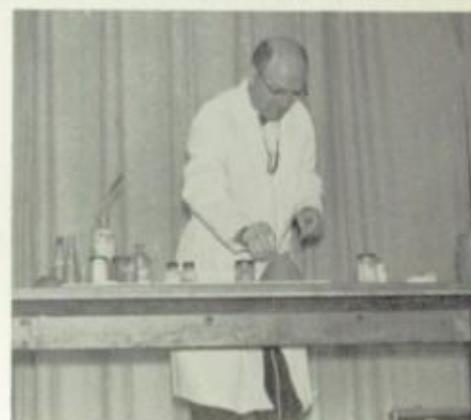

Football jackets delivered in assembly.

The science lecturer went over with a bang!

Will Sister Sanders get that fly? Or does she think she's seeing things??

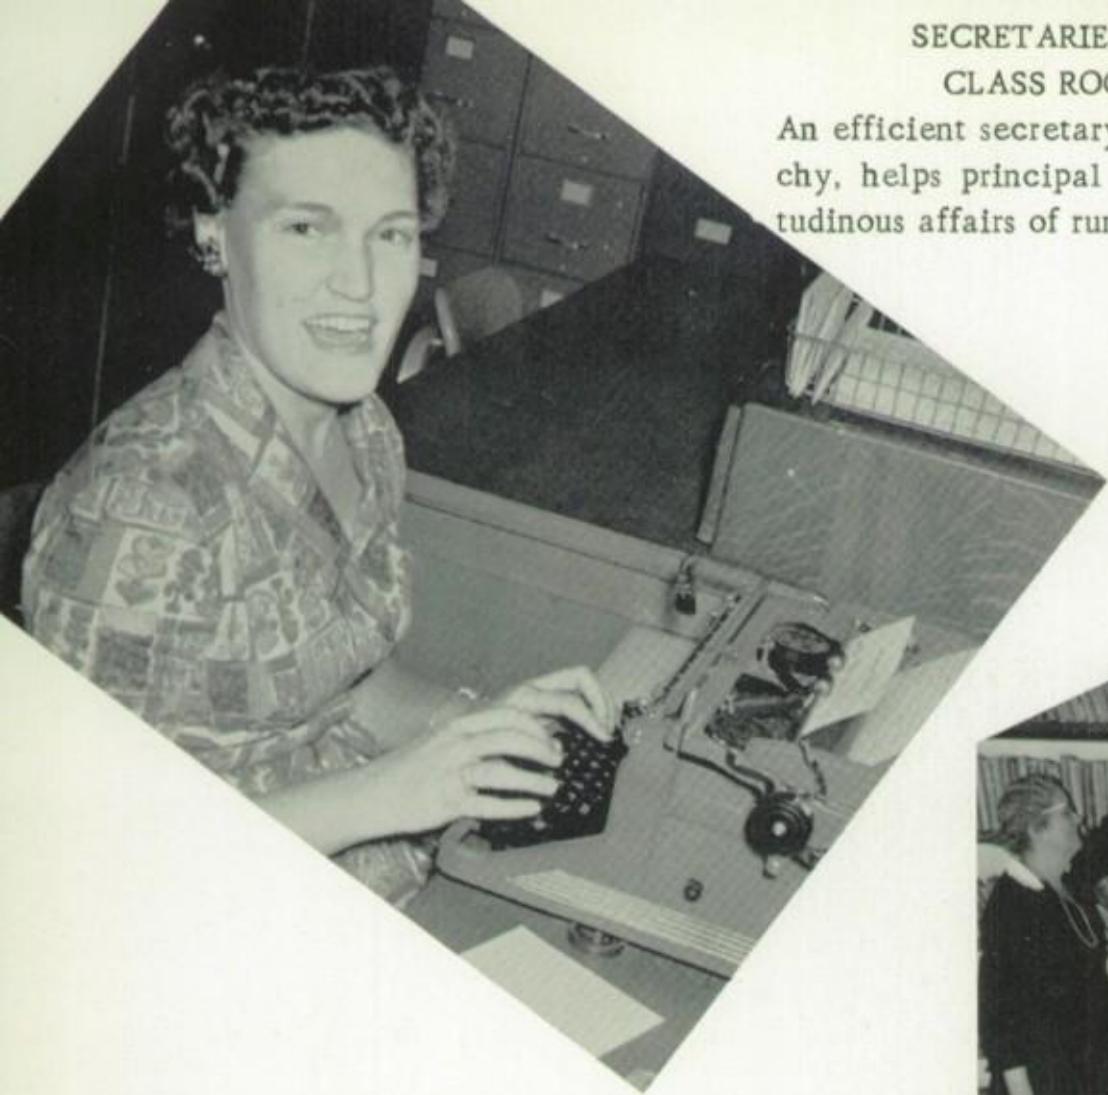

Grandma Hindelang couldn't move her rocker close enough to get into the picture.

Grannie Springer proves that she can act as well as teach people to act.

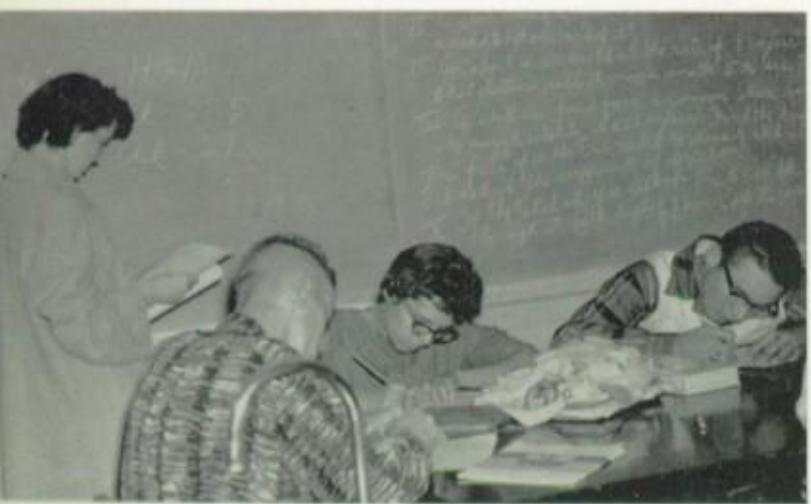

Close the door - Don't let any of them escape!

SECRETARIES, LIBRARIAN,
CLASS ROOM SCENES.

An efficient secretary, such as Mrs. McClatchy, helps principal Williams in the multitudinous affairs of running the school.

A well liked and helpful person is Mrs. Katie Cooper Lee, who has a B. A. from Southwestern University and a B. S. in Library Science from Texas Womens University. Her many duties in the library give her contacts with all our students.

A practice teacher from Southwestern University, Mrs. Wisdom, proctors a chemistry test.

Mr. McClatchy stimulated real interest in the mathematics department. This graph board is one of his good ideas.

Freshmen in general science profited by a field trip to the lime kiln. Mrs. Medley relates this experience to principles in the text.

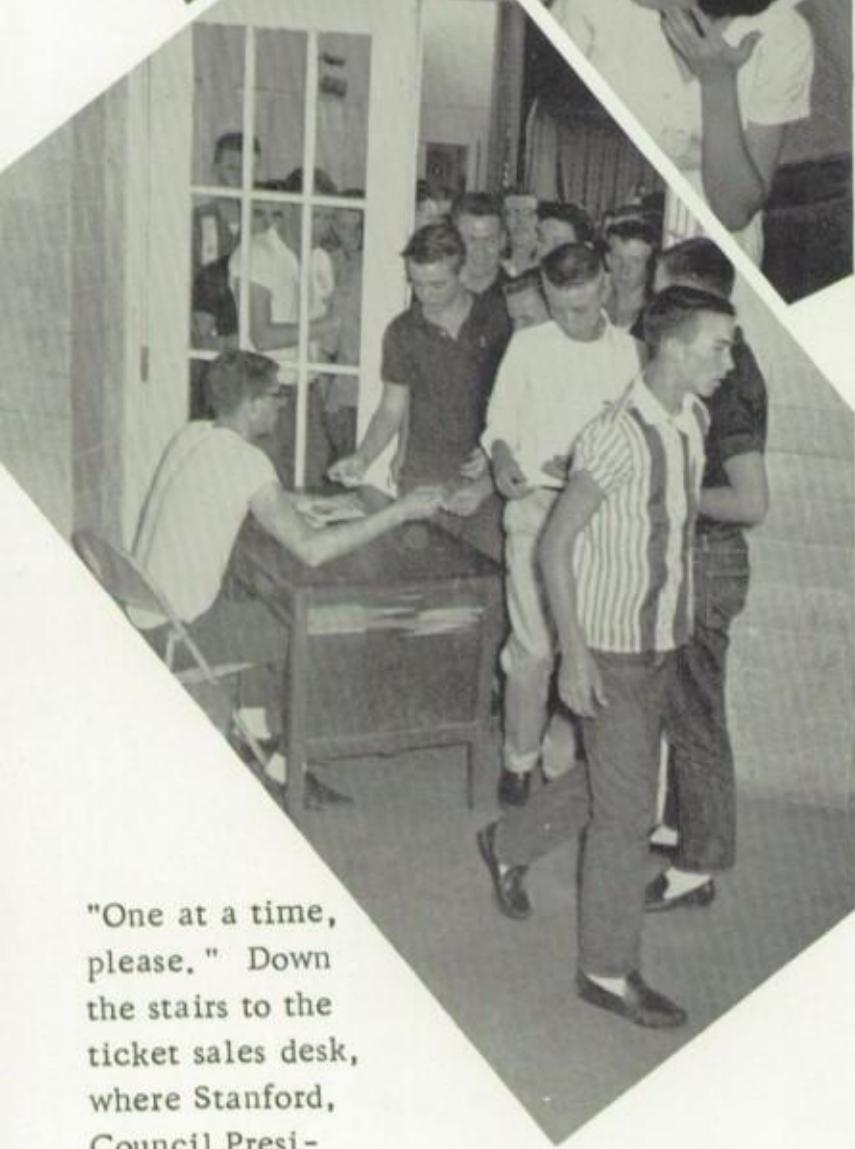

Miss Helen Stewart, graduate of Durhams' Business School, uses her calm efficiency as Superintendent Barnes' secretary.

Homemakers learn to improve homes through arranging flowers and fruit and to improve themselves by selecting becoming hair styles.

A Cappella Choir

Director, WENDELL OSBORN

A CAPPELLA CHOIR achieves first division rating in sight reading, second place in concert, in spring judging.

Officers and section leaders plan an even more successful year next year, under the direction of our fine conductor, Wendell Osborn.

At the piano, Dane Evans, expert accompanist and baritone section leader; Stanford Armstrong, bass; Kathy Freydenfeldt, soprano; Carlela Keys, alto and secretary; Camille Hays, Treasurer; Karen Hausenfluke, President; Bill Watts, tenor; Don Todd, Vice President.

Christmas carols and other seasonal music thrilled the listeners when our chorus sang in pre-holiday concert.

Reading the news of their top rating in Interscholastic League contest are Joyce Partain, 2nd soprano and Karen Hausenfluke, 1st alto, both of whom are also 1st division student band conductors. Also 1st division are Kathy Freydenfeldt, 1st soprano, and Pete Aleman, baritone.

The ECHO carries the news too, and these second place winners check the list. Tanny Faulk, 1st alto; Pamela Penniman, 1st soprano; Richard Finch, 2nd tenor; Barbara Hindelang, 1st alto; Ann Wheeler, 1st soprano.

To sing in a choir that kept the audience breathless with its power and beauty - such was the wonderful opportunity which came to Richard Finch, who, as a result of fall try-outs, sang second tenor with the All-State Choir in November.

Tactful, understanding of the students' view-point and co-operative with the instructor - this summarizes some of the fine qualities of President Pete Aleman.

Faithful Sara arrives each morning early to check the roll and keep records.

PETE ALEMAN, President

SARA BUCHANAN, Secretary

EILEEN ADAMS, Librarian

A FIRST DIVISION in sight reading, second in concert performance, were the 1960 RATINGS awarded the EAGLE BAND at contest.

Let Eileen tell you - a good librarian needs to put in much time keeping the music in order.

Capable Robert was well able to support the policies of the president and to assist him.

Sammie Morris receives the De Kalb Agricultural Accomplishment Award, which is presented to the senior student having the most outstanding record over four years in leadership, scholarship and supervised farming. Mr. Cairnes, vocational agriculture teacher, is pleased to present the award.

Recipients of awards which show their interest and industry are James Blackwell, who has received the honor of becoming a Lone Star Farmer; Don Morris, award for outstanding Greenhand; Thomas Williams, Star Chapter Farmer.

Posed with animals they exhibited are some of the boys who participated in the Georgetown F. H. A. Livestock Show.

Checking on the requirements for Lone Star Farmer are James Blackwell and Butch Smith.

Tommy Etheridge had the champion Fine-Wool Fat Lamb of the Williamson County F. F. A. Livestock Show. The lamb sold for $2.75 per pound.

How are people going to know that we won all these banners if we don't show them? LIVESTOCK TEAM: Earl Smith, Thomas Williams, James Blackwell. FARM RADIO TEAM: Emil Beckman, Robert Kleen, Douglas Newsom, Livestock and Dairy Products Teams participated in the State judging contest.

F.H.A. Officers

Rock-a-bye babies in F.H.A. Pledges get younger on initiation day!

At one of the monthly meetings early in the fall these young homemakers in formal attire illustrate the keys to success and a happy life.

After the Christmas party, the clean-up committee efficiently disposes of the leftover goodies used in the demonstration.

Beautiful decorations for the Christmas season are always prepared by Future Homemakers and featured at their banquet.

Mrs. Barnes, Superintendent Barnes, and Mrs. Williams are all pleased with Mrs. Barnes' surprise birthday present. At right, below, F.H.A. president, Jo Ann Hausenfluke, watches her mother and father, F.H.A. parents, open their present.

A great compliment is paid to Roylene Homeyer, who was elected by members of F. H. A. as their Ideal Homemaker.

Line aprons are important because by this means the students of dress design see the effect of different kinds of lines used in dress making.

This sweet smile is just the typical F. H. A. look, but Ella Ruth Kokel is justly happy because of the honor of winning first place from among Georgetown Senior contestants in the Betty Crocker written examination.

You've heard about refrigerator raiders? Pete Aleman is justified here, for Sammie Morris and John Doerfler have just issued the order - "Put it away, Pete!"

Too many cooks for the icing? Pete Reynaga and Marvin Patterson stand by to see how an Ideal Homemaker does it.

Re-elected SCIENCE CLUB OFFICERS, Meredith McClain, Secretary; Mike Weir, President; and Karen Cole, Treasurer, shown with sponsors Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Medley.

FUTURE NURSES' officers, Darlene Lackey, Parliamentarian; Mary Jane Perry, President; Carra Snowden, Treasurer; Lora Williams, Vice President. Not shown, Jo Ann George, Reporter.

PAULA WHEELER, Editor

Naturally, Paula writes the editorials; also, Student of Week, New Teacher Column, and many stories left unwritten by other staffers. She has worked diligently all year to bring the ECHO to its present high rank. Her progress is noteworthy.

Eagle Echo

A survey taken recently has revealed that the EAGLE ECHO is the most popular and most widely read newspaper in Georgetown High School.

After learning this, we interviewed the editor, Miss Wheeler, who asked that we pay tribute to some workers not pictured on this page. Randy Mercer, she says, is a very faithful worker, who writes F.F.A., Band, and birthday stories, and some confidential exposés. Carra Snowden writes junior news and stories about assemblies. Selinda Montgomery contributes Rainbow Girls' stories and Honor Society news.

Naturally, staff members are interested in their product, so they examine each ECHO carefully. Pete Aleman writes most of the stories on boys' sports. The wit of the ECHO is Richard Finch, Feature Editor, best known for his "Dear Gertrude" column. He also applies his wit and his collector's sense to special stories, jokes, and song dedications.

Marcelo Tafoya, an annual staffer, supplies annual news, some pictures, and he helps with boys' sports.

When fashion news appears, it is Diane Christie who is responsible. Kathy Freydenfeldt has given us several glimpses of the activities of the choir.

Not shown, but a dependable worker is Judy Wolf, who writes junior high student stories, and exchange items from other schools. An occasional D.J.'s Grapevine is the work of Walter Martin; Future Nurses and Freshman news is by Jo Ann George. Ruth Nell Dykes, Menus, Coming Events.

MR. DRISKA, KAREN COLE, JANIE EDWARDS, PAULA WHEELER.

Business manager Karen finds it no laughing matter to handle all the money and write Student Council News and pep rally stories.

Janie, Assistant Editor, writes Soc 'N' Buskin news, P.A.S.F., Tuesday Night

Supper Club news, and other stories for those who didn't deliver. Janie's selling ability made possible this year's great improvement, a printed paper, for she brought in those advertisements.

Probably the most important and certainly the bravest person connected with the paper is Mr. Driska, sponsor.

Although he carefully proofreads and censors, each issue still brings him several unwelcome surprises.

MR. ROBERT DRISKA

Below are the typists preparing copy. Head typist is Ella Ruth Kokel, who sees that the typing is done. She also writes "Senior Brags." Margie Andrews is an especially faithful typist. Among the others shown, Judy Reid writes the girls' sports and Tennis Club news; Jo Ann Hausenfluke writes F.H.A. news. Julia Lackey types; Roylene Homyer helps with F.H.A. news.

PAN AMERICAN STUDENT FORUM is a service organization, and under the sponsorship of Mrs. Raye McCoy, Spanish teacher, the organization does good deeds, one of which is the serving of the Junior-Senior banquet.

President David Carlson instructs the scribe, Karen Hausenfluke, to prepare the program which the organization is to present, as a service, to the American Association of University Women. David agrees to preside and to give his declamation prepared for Interscholastic League. Agnes Miller is to give her declamation, and Karen is to be presented to the ladies as the State P. A. S. F. secretary for 1960-61.

Two trombone solos, popular Spanish folk songs, are Pete Aleman's part on the program.

MY THREE ANGELS, by Sam and Bella Spewack, the three act play presented this year, was a delightful comedy that everyone thoroughly enjoyed. Members of the cast are named with their pictures. Above are Sandra Pennington, Donna Bishop, and Randy Mercer.

The cast toasts the three angels.

GEORGETOWN'S ONE ACT PLAY WINS DISTRICT.

It's traditional for Georgetown to win the District Interscholastic League contest. Our play, directed by our talented Mrs. Springer, is always excellent. Of course we always expect to go on to State, and if we do not, we realize that when good plays are judged, there are differences of opinion.

We were all proud of "The Man in the Bowler Hat"

Mike Weir, henchman of villain Paul Hindelang, prepares to administer a little torture to the hero.

Randy Mercer, hero, and Janie Edwards, heroine, are admired by middle-aged Donna and Richard.

Paul never gets to look like himself in a play. He submits to being made villainous.

Named to the All-Star cast, Donna Bishop and Richard Finch.

Those behind the foot lights succeed with the help of the stage crew. Discussing a transportation problem are stage manager Jimmy McDonald and his excellent crew, Karen Cole, Sandra Pennington, Edgar Wuthrich and Agnes Miller.

Below, cast of "The Summons of Sariel": Meredith McClain, Sara Buchanan, Kathy Freydenfeldt, Sandra Pennington, Diane Christie, Ella Ruth Kokel, Clifford Langford, Ruth Johnson. Carlela Keys played the Suicide in the play.

ONE ACT PLAY NIGHT judged an outstanding success. The Drama Class produced three plays which were judged by Dr. Springer and advanced drama students from Southwestern University. They unanimously rated all three plays excellent, and praised the settings, costumes and performances of the actors, many of whom had never appeared in a play.

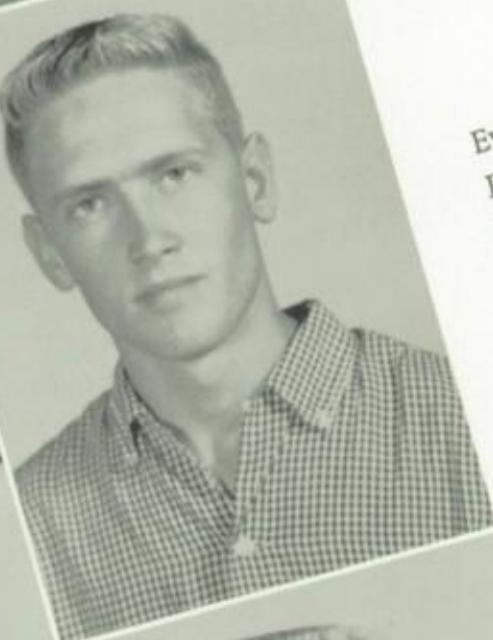

We are proud of you and for you, Mrs. Springer and Drama Class.

Great day! Senior rings distributed.

Seniors who presented panel discussions to the four seventh grade sections on the general topic of PROPER PREPARATION FOR HIGH SCHOOL did so because of their realization of mistakes they had made, and their desire to help younger students profit by their friendly advice.

MEREDITH McCLAIN

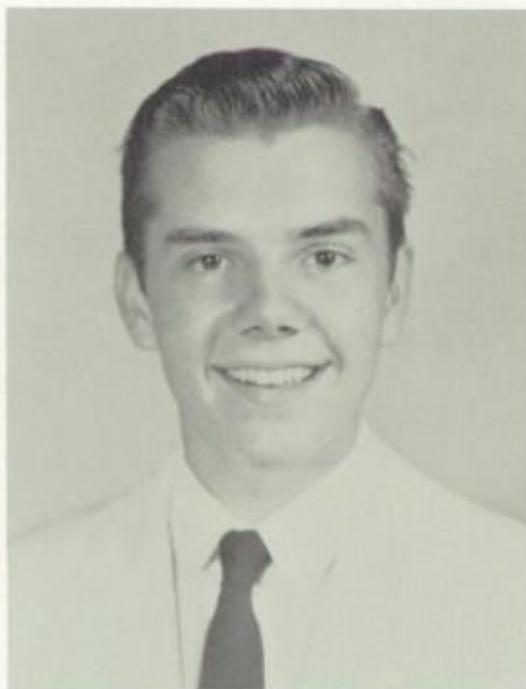

WE PROUDLY PRESENT OUR D. A. R. WINNER
AND OUR MERIT AWARD WINNERS

1960 winner of the Daughters of the American Revolution Citizenship award is Meredith McClain, selected for good citizenship, dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

Mrs. Martin, a former regent of the Georgetown chapter of D. A. R. presents her granddaughter Meredith, with the gold and blue pin, citizenship symbol of the D. A. R.

Jimmy McDonald had also contributed to the fine record of Georgetown High Students, for he became a semi-finalist in the Merit examinations.

JIMMY McDONALD

Scholastically ranking in the top one and one half per cent of the nation's graduates is Paul Hindelang, who became the fourth Merit Scholarship finalist from Georgetown High School.

PAUL HINDELANG

Proud Paul receives notification of his honor from school counsellor, Mr. Murdock.

Senior

We proudly present our senior sponsors - - -

We present, with no apology, - - -

Mrs. Frances Springer:
B. A. Baker University;
English, Speech, sponsor of Soc 'n' Buskin; directs all plays.

Mr. Cavitt felt quick relief from oxygen administered by senior boys. After the daily run up a flight of stairs, he really needs something to help him organize all those facts in world history.

Around the table from left to right: Senior Class Treasurer, Carlela Keys; Vice President, Meredith McClain; Reporter, Ella Ruth Kokel; Secretary, Karen Cole; and President, Sammie Morris.

Ella Ruth Kokel, Sandra Pennington, Carlela Keys and Sara Buchanan give impersonations of teachers going to the lunch room for coffee. Can you guess by the poses who they are?

Mr. J. C. Barnes:
B. A. Southwestern University; M. A. University of Texas. Superintendent of Schools.
(See page 15)

and our superintendent, in the long ago and in the present.

some senior cut-ups, with a few underclassmen who managed to get into the pictures.

"The Boiler Room Gang" Good impersonations - or do you agree? Do they remind you of anyone? Characters in this drama are Paul Hindelang, David Adams, and David Carlson.

Mr. James Cairnes:
B.S. Texas A&M; Vocational agriculture;
sponsor F.F.A.

Don: "You say you can't stand the smell, Karen?"

Really, chemistry is not so bad, but it is work, and it takes concentration, as shown here by intense expressions of Karen Cole, Randell Mickan, Don Todd, Gary Boyd and Edwin Darnbush. Mrs. Medley appears to be having a lot of fun!

Mr. Fritz Stelzer: B.S. University of Texas; Coach, commercial arithmetic.

Mrs. Lilla Barnes: B.S. Southwestern University; General science, biology; co-sponsor of Student Council, Science Club, National Honor Society, Blue Wings.

Mr. and Miss G.H.S.

Responsible for the decorations for the Mr. and Miss G.H.S. coronation are these fine workers: Patsy S., Renee F., Bettie B., Becky S., Carolyn P., Mike W., Kay C., Sandra C., Linda H., Margo G., Dane E., Walter M., Richard F., David P.

The King and Queen dance the night away amid the splendor of their coronation ball.

A hearts and flowers theme beautified the gymnasium.

Interscholastic League Meet

Ready to take off for the meet are all these contestants who are hoping to bring back from Round Rock some kind of honor or recognition for Georgetown High School.

Joining hands in a wish for luck are the alternates who furnished real competition for those who went to contest. Bonnie S., poetry; Karen H., ready writing; Margie A., shorthand; Patsy S., typing; Barbara H., spelling; Judy W., poetry.

All these brave people lined up here tried out for poetry reading. Emma Sralla, Elnora Gibbs, Kathy Freydenfeldt, Jeanne Behrens, Gary Carlson, Gary Montgomery, Meredith McClain, Judy Wolf, Patty McDonald and Susan McCook. Some had to drop out of the contest because of various conflicts in their time schedules, but each deserves credit for trying.

DISTRICT INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE MEET puts our top students as well as our top athletes, into competition for the honor of representing our school. We feel justly proud of each person who enters the competition, for the mere act of entering shows desire to excel, willingness to work, eagerness to boost the school. To those who succeed in placing or winning goes further recognition, but the Aerie Staff wishes to salute each contestant who gave of his time, effort, and knowledge.

Shorthand experts, Roylene Homeyer and Nelda Davis.

Generally known for their mathematical ability are number sense entrants, Sterling Eanes, Randy Mercer, and Brian Wicke.

Practicing their finger exercises, typists Kathleen Miller, Janie Edwards and Kay Caskey.

Miss Wilcox dictated many lists of spelling words to these letter wise spellers, Rita Rhea and Ann Wheeler.

THIRD PLACE WINNERS.

Laura Weir in junior declamation, David Carlson in boys' declamation, Sara Buchanan in readywriting.

Just for practice Meredith McClain, poetry reader, offers Jimmy McDonald a topic to practice for an extemporaneous speech. Eager to hear what he will do with the topic are Juanita Cothran, typist, and Agnes Miller, who is competing in declamation. All are second place winners in District.

With the combination of Karen Cole's sparkling personality, eager ear, and retentive memory, it is no wonder that she returned a State winner in extemporaneous speech. Her topic was, "Are There Any Practical Benefits to the Ordinary Citizen from Space Research." Admiring her District medal is her coach, Mrs. Calvin Sanders.

Gary Montgomery's superior work on his dialect poem "In Hardin' County-1809" was certainly profitable. He returned with a District First in boys' poetry, and was rated Third in Regional competition.

Deeply engrossed in her declamation "They Stood Alone" is Sandra Pennington. She also won a First in District and a Third in Regional.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

members are announced at "Parents' Night at School." Through faculty efforts, spearheaded by Mrs. Hindelang, G.H.S. obtained a national charter.

Scenes from the first meeting of the Honor Society. The very first president, Paul Hindelang, (out of camera range) is presiding, also serving are Carlela Keys, vice president; Meredith McClain, secretary; Ella Ruth Kokel, treasurer.

Membership in the National Honor Society is limited by its constitution to 20% of the seniors and 15% of the juniors. Students are selected by the faculty according to their possession of the characteristics of CHARACTER, SERVICE, LEADERSHIP, and SCHOLARSHIP. Choosing from among the many worthy students is extremely difficult, and the greatest of care must be exercised in order that the final choices are the very most deserving of the deserving.

JUNIOR-SENIOR
BANQUET is stupendous success!

Money-mad juniors finally released the purse strings to present the seniors with their annual banquet. The Mardi-Gras setting included a mask for each person present.

At the head table were seated, among others, Meredith McClain, Don Todd, Richard Finch, Selinda Montgomery, Randy Mercer, Reverend Richard Smith and Mrs. Smith.

Decorations included balloons in a net and hand painted wall flats in blue, red and gray diamonds. A bubbling fountain graced the garden, and romantic white iron furniture helped the illusion. The gym disappeared in a mask of loveliness.

Trying to place the balloons are Ronnie Fox, Edgar Wuthridge and Agnes Miller.

Wondering if, when they finish, it will look like "ole" New Orleans, are Donna Bishop and Ann Wheeler.

Climaxing the evening was the arrival of the huge cake which contained a surprise. Patsy, Kay, Carra and Jeannie are the cake makers.

No one minds being photographed when she (or he) looks her best - witness these smiles.

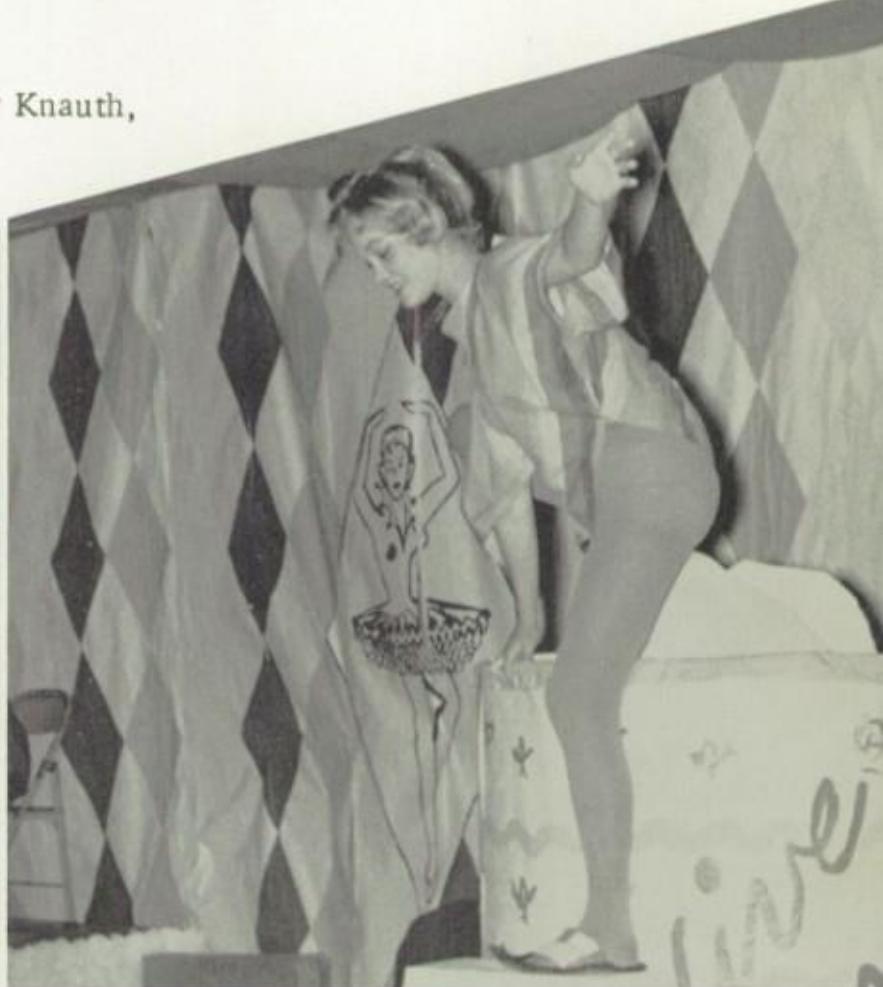

Here in gentlemen's corner the conversation is brisk.

Frances Coronado enjoys Daniel Aleman's gracious manner while serving.

When the big cake was wheeled in, out jumped Betty Knauth, who entertained with a jester's act.

Leading the Mardi Gras Parade is Bill Ragsdale's Orchestra. Everyone marched prettily to the strains of "When the Saints Come Marching In".

Noisy but hearty is the song of this group, who plainly are putting their all into singing the original welcome song.

Pretty juniors posing in the garden and hoping to "get their pitchurs took".

Unique costumes for every waiter and waitress helped stimulate the Mardi Gras idea. All costumes were attractive, and some of them successfully concealed the identity of the server.

PARTIES OF ALL TYPES spark the year. An "Auntie Mayme" senior party, given during the Christmas Holidays, had both rags and riches as costumes. At left, Beatnik Walter Martin recites to bongo music by Pete and trills on a wooden flute by Meredith.

Quite an elaborate setting - a flaming glass, etc., but very soft drinks.

A party for Miss Ringness, who plans to change her name.

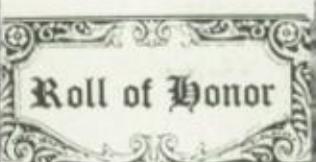

Instructions are eagerly received.

Senior day means getting out of school early, relaxing in comfortable clothes, and picnicking at the country club with dates. Here the boys prepare to frighten the girls with a snake.

Honors

Selected to attend Boys' State in Austin were Charlie Williams and Stanford Armstrong for 1959; Mike Weir, Randy Mercer, and Jimmy Petrosky for 1960. Charlie is going again this year as junior counselor.

Selected to attend the Summer Science Training program at Texas A&M, John Atkin relaxes on his porch and wonders if his project of raising fruit flies had anything to do with the showing he made on the aptitude test.

All Star Cast from One Act Play Night examining bric-a-brac used as props in "Sham." Marcelo Tafoya, from "Submerged"; Paul Hindelang and Karen Cole, best actor and actress from "Sham"; Sara Buchanan and Sandra Pennington, as well as Clifford Langford (by Marcelo) from "The Summons of Sariel." Carlela Keys and Kathy Freydenfeldt received honorable mention.

Receiving the Ralph B. Hickman Scholarship Award from Principal Williams is his deserving son, Charlie, who was selected by vote of a faculty committee.

Winners of medals for highest averages in subjects listed: Brian Wicke, mathematics; Dane Evans, Spanish; Paul Hindelang, Best Thespian; Barbara Hindelang, English; Arlene Jacobs, Homemaking and Science; Janie Edwards, Typing; Carlela Keys, another Best Thespian. Melvin McLaughlin received the history medal.

Honor juniors, selected by the senior class to escort them at Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises; Patsy Scott, David Parsley, Kay Caskey, Gordon Peterson.

Nominees for American Legion Citizenship Award, selected by vote of classes: freshmen (not shown) Brenda Langford and Don Morris; sophomores, Gene Jacob, Arlene Jacob; juniors, Glen Schaefer and Jeannie Parker; seniors, Paula Wheeler (not shown) and David Woodfin. Selected as the winners by faculty, Glen Schaefer and Arlene Jacob.
